

A close-up photograph of a strawberry plant. The image shows several green, serrated leaves with prominent veins. Small, light-colored flowers are visible among the foliage. The background is dark and out of focus, suggesting a garden or field setting. The text is overlaid in white, bold, sans-serif font.

Jeremiah 27:11 But the nations that bring their neck under the yoke of the king of Babylon, and serve him, those will I let remain still in their own land, saith the LORD; and they shall till it, and dwell therein.