

A close-up photograph of several golden wheat stalks, showing the intricate details of the grain heads and the fine texture of the awns. The lighting is soft, highlighting the natural colors of the wheat. A semi-transparent dark grey or black rectangular overlay is positioned in the upper half of the image, serving as a background for the text.

Lamentations 05:14 The elders have ceased from the gate, the young men from their music.