

A close-up photograph of several purple flowers, likely morning glories, with a soft, blurred background. The flowers are in various stages of bloom, showing their characteristic five-petaled structure and vibrant purple color. The lighting is natural, highlighting the texture of the petals.

Ezekiel 12:28 Therefore say unto them, Thus saith the Lord GOD; There shall none of my words be prolonged any more, but the word which I have spoken shall be done, saith the Lord GOD.