

A close-up photograph of blue spruce needles, showing their characteristic bluish-green color and fine texture. The needles are arranged in dense, overlapping clusters along woody stems. The lighting is bright, highlighting the individual needles and creating a sense of depth and texture.

Ezekiel 21:18 The word of the LORD came unto me again, saying,