

A close-up photograph of several purple flowers, likely pansies, with yellow centers, set against a blurred green background. The flowers are the primary visual element, with their petals and stamens clearly visible.

Ezekiel 31:12 And strangers, the terrible of the nations, have cut him off, and have left him: upon the mountains and in all the valleys his branches are fallen, and his boughs are broken by all the rivers of the land; and all the people of the earth are gone down from his shadow, and have left
