

A close-up photograph of a garden. In the center, a large, vibrant purple chrysanthemum flower is in full bloom. Below it, several tulips with red and yellow variegated petals are visible. To the right, a cluster of small pink flowers is partially seen. The background consists of dark soil, green leaves, and some bare, brown branches. Overlaid on the left side of the image is white text in a serif font.

Ezekiel 46:10 And the prince in the midst of them, when they go in,
shall go in; and when they go forth,
shall go forth.