

Numbers 31:38 And the beeves were thirty and six thousand; of which the LORD'S tribute was threescore and twelve.

A photograph of a butterfly garden. The scene is dominated by lush green plants with serrated leaves. A black mesh enclosure is visible on the left side, partially covering the plants. Several monarch butterflies with their characteristic orange and black wings are perched on the leaves. In the lower-left foreground, a white butterfly is captured in flight, its wings spread. The background is slightly blurred, showing more of the garden's structure.
