

A close-up photograph of several vibrant purple bell-shaped flowers, likely from a Campanula species, set against a lush green background of foliage. The flowers are in various stages of bloom, with some showing the yellowish stamens and pistils. The lighting is soft, highlighting the delicate texture of the petals.

Zechariah 04:14 Then said he,
These are the two anointed ones,
that stand by the Lord of the whole earth.