

Zechariah 08:07 Thus saith the LORD of hosts; Behold, I will save my people from the east country,
and from the west country;

A scenic view of a rocky coastline. The foreground is dominated by dark, jagged rocks, some of which are covered in brown seaweed. Pools of water are scattered among the rocks. In the middle ground, white-capped waves are crashing against the shore, creating a large amount of foam. The background shows the ocean extending to the horizon under a clear sky. The overall lighting suggests a bright, sunny day.