

Deutronomy 28:24 The LORD shall make the rain of thy land powder and dust: from heaven shall it come down upon thee, until thou be destroyed.

A vast, desolate landscape of sand dunes under a clear sky. The sand is light-colored and shows ripples from the wind. In the foreground, there are several pieces of driftwood, including a long, thin branch and a thicker log, scattered across the sand. The background shows more dunes stretching towards the horizon.