

A close-up photograph of a rocky beach. The ground is covered with small, dark grey and blue pebbles, interspersed with larger, light-colored, tan and grey rocks. In the center of the image, a sea urchin is visible, its brown, spiky body resting on the rocks. The text is overlaid on the image in a white, serif font, centered horizontally and vertically.

Mark 07:26 The woman was a Greek, a Syrophenician by nation;
and she besought him that he would cast forth the devil out of her daughter.