

A close-up photograph of a rose bush. The image is filled with vibrant green leaves and numerous pink roses in various stages of bloom. Some flowers are fully open, showing multiple layers of petals, while others are still tight buds. The background is slightly blurred, emphasizing the texture and color of the roses in the foreground.

Luke 19:12 He said therefore, A certain nobleman went into a far country to receive for himself a kingdom, and to return.