

Luke 21:06 As for these things which ye behold, the days will come, in the which there shall not be left one stone upon another, that shall not be thrown down.

A small stream flows over rocks in a lush green forest. The water is clear and reflects the surrounding foliage. The rocks are of various sizes and colors, some covered in moss. The background is filled with dense green leaves and ferns, creating a vibrant and natural setting.