Luke 21:06 As for these things which we behold the days will come, in the which there shall not be left one stone upon another, that shall not be thrown down.