

John 17:25 O righteous Father, the world hath not known thee: but I have known thee, and these have known that thou hast sent me.

A large, white iceberg floats in the dark, deep blue ocean at night. The iceberg is illuminated from below, creating a bright, glowing effect around its base. The water is dark and textured with small waves. The sky is a deep, dark blue, and a small, distant light is visible on the horizon to the left.