

A copper bucket is suspended from a metal frame, with water pouring from a spout into it. The bucket is positioned over a dark, reflective surface, possibly a pool of water. The background is filled with vibrant green foliage, including various leaves and stems, creating a lush, natural setting. The text is overlaid on the image in a white, serif font.

Acts 16:27 And the keeper of the prison awaking out of his sleep, and seeing the prison doors open, he drew out his sword, and would have killed himself, supposing that the prisoners had been fled.