

A close-up photograph of a purple flower, likely a petunia, showing the intricate vein patterns on its petals. The flower is the central focus, with its petals radiating outwards. The background is dark and blurred, emphasizing the flower's details. The text is overlaid on the upper portion of the flower.

Acts 16:28 But Paul cried with a loud voice, saying, Do thyself no harm: for we are all here.