

A close-up photograph of a lavender flower spike, showing individual small purple blossoms in detail. The background is a soft, out-of-focus green, likely from other foliage. The text is overlaid on the image in a white, serif font.

Acts 16:10 And after he had seen the vision, immediately we endeavoured to go into Macedonia, assuredly gathering that the Lord had called us for to preach the gospel unto them.