

A photograph of a rugged, rocky cliffside. The rocks are dark grey and brown, with some sparse, dry vegetation growing on the surface. A utility wire runs across the top of the cliff. The sky is bright and clear.

2nd Corinthians 02:16 To the one we are the savour of death unto death; and to the other the savour of life unto life. And who is sufficient for these things?