

A close-up photograph of a large number of small, vibrant blue flowers, likely lobelia, growing in a dense cluster. The flowers have five petals and prominent stamens. The background is filled with green leaves and stems, creating a lush, textured appearance. The lighting is bright, highlighting the rich blue color of the blossoms.

2nd Corinthians 06:09 As unknown, and yet well known; as dying, and, behold, we live; as chastened, and not killed;