

A close-up photograph of several vibrant purple flowers, likely from a bell-shaped plant, set against a blurred green background of foliage. The flowers are in various stages of bloom, with some fully open and others as buds. The lighting is soft, highlighting the delicate texture of the petals.

Joshua 09:26 And so did he unto them, and delivered them out of the hand of the children of Israel, that they slew them not.