

A dark, monochromatic photograph of a beach. The foreground is dominated by smooth, undulating sand dunes. Scattered across the dunes and the beach are numerous small, dark rocks and pieces of driftwood. The background shows a flat expanse of sand leading to a dark, possibly wet, shoreline. The overall mood is serene and quiet.

Colossians 01:11 Strengthened with all might, according to his glorious power, unto all patience and longsuffering with joyfulness;