

A close-up photograph of a field of yellow pansies with dark brown or maroon centers. The flowers are in various stages of bloom, surrounded by lush green leaves and stems. The background is slightly blurred, showing more of the same flowers and some purple flowers in the distance.

James 04:12 There is one lawgiver,
who is able to save and to destroy:
who art thou that judgest another?