

A scenic view of a multi-tiered stone waterfall with a vibrant garden of colorful flowers in the foreground. The waterfall is constructed from large, grey stone blocks and cascades down several levels. In the foreground, a dense garden of flowers in various colors, including red, orange, yellow, and white, is in full bloom. The background shows a building and some trees under a clear sky.

1st Peter 04:06 For for this cause was the gospel preached also to them that are dead, that they might be judged according to men in the flesh, but live according to God in the spirit.
