

A decorative garden waterfall with a stone wall and plants. The waterfall is constructed from dark, layered rocks, with water cascading down. To the left, there are green pine-like plants and purple flowers. To the right, there is a stone wall and more purple flowers. The background is a brick wall.

Revelation 06:04 And there went out another horse that was red: and power was given to him that sat thereon to take peace from the earth, and that they should kill one another: and there was given unto him a great sword.
