

Genesis 04:06 And the LORD said
unto Cain, Why art thou wroth?
and why is thy countenance fallen?

A close-up photograph of a lily flower. The petals are primarily white with prominent pink or magenta streaks and blotches. The central part of the flower, including the sepal and the base of the petals, is yellow with numerous small, dark brown or black spots. The flower is surrounded by vibrant green leaves, some of which are in sharp focus while others are blurred in the background.