

A scenic view of a river flowing through a rocky canyon. The river is a vibrant green color, contrasting with the grey and brown tones of the surrounding rocks. The canyon walls are composed of layered rock formations, some of which are covered in sparse, dry vegetation. In the foreground, there is a large pile of dry, tangled branches and twigs. The overall atmosphere is one of a rugged, natural landscape.

Ruth 02:21 And Ruth the Moabitess said, He said unto me also, Thou shalt keep fast by my young men, until they have ended all my harvest.