

1st Samuel 28:20 Then Saul fell straightway all along on the earth, and was sore afraid, because of the words of Samuel: and there was no strength in him; for he had eaten no bread all the day, nor all the night.

A butterfly with black wings and red and white markings is resting on a bed of brown mulch. The butterfly is positioned in the lower right quadrant of the image, with its wings spread. The background consists of dark brown mulch and some green foliage at the top.
