

A photograph of a rocky landscape. In the foreground, there is a dense carpet of low-lying vegetation, including moss and small, bright red berries. The ground is uneven, with several large, grey, moss-covered rocks scattered throughout. The background shows more rocks and a slightly hazy, overcast sky. The overall scene is a natural, outdoor setting, likely in a mountainous or high-altitude region.

2nd Chronicles 24:01 Joash was seven years old when he began to reign, and he reigned forty years in Jerusalem. His mother's name also was Zibiah of Beersheba.